PREFACE

For about twenty-five years we have been accumulating the material in this record, and have paid more attention to the material than to the sources. We have not kept a detailed record of the sources.

We have examined the genealogical material concerning the families mentioned in the New York Library, the Philadelphia Library, the Library of Congress, the Pennsylvanian Genealogical Library at Harrisburg and the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh. Among the books read and used were the Colonial and Revolutionary Families of Pennsylvania, Colonial and Revolutionary Families of Philadelphia, Lineage Books of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Pennsylvania Archives, Hayden's Virginia Genealogy, Brumbaugh's Maryland Records, Burke's Peerage and Baronetage, Great Historic Families of Scotland, Encyclopedia of American Quaker Genealogy, J. Pinkerton's History of Scotland, Americans of Royal Descent, Encyclopedia Britannica, Book of the National Society of Daughters of the Barons of Runnymede, and publications of the Edinburgh Scottish Record Society. We have examined various county histories: parish registers, and the Rev. Mr. Illing's Book. Among the family histories and records used were, Woods-McAfee Memorial, the Riddle book, the Lukens' Family record, the Widener record, the Welles record and the Hershey family history.

Public records were used to check and substantiate data whenever possible, tax lists, wills and census reports. Family data was furnished in many cases, and dates were checked with cemeteries whenever possible.

The only reason for giving more about some families than others is that more was available. We have given all we have. If there seems to be an emphasis on important people, it is because it is much easier to find out about them.

Some of this material was secured from representatives of families several years ago. We regret that it is impossible to review it and bring it up to date.

We are very grateful to all who have helped either with data or interest.

The Clements family is an English one,-the name coming from Latin and Norman-French, clemens, clementis.

Like many other old surnames, it has been spelled in various ways,-Clement, Clemens, Clemons, Klemens, Klementz, Clemence, etc., according to the education, nationality or whim of the tax-collectors and census takers.

By the first part of the 16th century there were branches of this family in several counties,-Leicester, Devon, Surrey and possibly others. And one Gregory Clements was a merchant in London Town. He was a member of the "Long" Parliament, and was one of the judges who sentenced Charles I to death. After the Restoration, he was hanged, drawn and quartered, exposed to public view, his property confiscated, and his family driven out.

Early immigrants by this name settled in Virginia in 1617; in New England, Dorchester, 1635, Haverhill, 1638, and Boston, 1644; and in New Jersey about 1690.

Our concern in this record is with the descendents of William Clements, who came to Philadelphia from Ireland, about 1760, and with the ancestors and descendents of those families connected with them by marriage.

There is some reason to believe that this William was a descendant of Gregory or at least a relative of his. The family from which William came had apparently gone to Ireland soon after Gregory was executed; they were staunch Presbyterians; then we see William enlisting in the American Army after a very short residence in the country, which would suggest an old grudge.

William Clements, of English descent, b.c. 1735, came to Philadelphia, from Ireland, about 1760. He was a weaver. He enlisted in Capt. Josiah Harmar's Co., 1st Penna. Bat., in 1775. He was married and had at least two sons and two daughters, and probably another son. His wife's name may have been Alexander. His children were as follows: (Not sure of the order.)

1. James Alexander, b.c. 1765, d. 1820, or a little later, married Margaret Hamilton, b. 1768, d. Apr. 1, 1863. They were living in Delaware Co., Pa., in 1790, but had no children then. They came west, first to Westmoreland Co., where they were living in 1802. Later they settled in the eastern tip of Plum Twp., Allegheny Co., Pa., buying land from G. Miltenburger, in 1814.

2. David, married and living in Delaware Co., in 1790, but had no children then. Alexander Clements, veteran of the War of 1812, was almost certainly his son.

3. Margaret, b. 1768, d. 1849, was unmarried and lived with her brother, James' family, then with her nephew, James' family. She is buried at Oakmont.

4. Daughter, living at home in 1790. This may have been the Elizabeth Clements, who married Joseph Herbert, Jan. 1, 1795, at the First Baptist Church of Philadelphia.

5. Son, under sixteen in 1790. This could have been an apprentice.

James Alexander and Margaret Hamilton Clements had four sons - (no daughters), as follows:

1. William Alexander.

2. James, married and had at least three children, as follows:

a. Matthew, b. 1848, d. 1891, married and had at least one child, Blanche, b. 1886, d. 1888.

GRAHAM

Some sources say the Grahams are descended from the Graeme, who commanded the army of Fergus II in 404; others are equally sure that they were Normans.

The first Graham that we know was an ancestor of the "Border" Grahams is Sir Patrick Graham, Lord of Dundoff. His son, also Patrick, married 2nd Lady Eupheme Stewart, Countess of Strathern, daughter of David Stewart and his wife another Lady Eupheme. By this marriage, the descendants of the second Sir Patrick can trace their descent from the following Scottish Kings: Robert II, Robert Bruce, David I, Malcolm III (Canmore), Duncan II, and Malcolm II. And through the marriage of Sir Patrick and Lady Eupheme's son, with Lady Ann de Vere, they are descended from both the de Clare and families and many other important families of Scotland and England of that time.

The descent from the de Clares and the de Veres is as follows:

Rollo, the Dane, Duke of Normandy, in 912, married Poppa, daughter of Berengarius, Count of Bayeux.

William, the Longsword (son of Rollo and Poppa), 2nd Duke of Normandy, married Adela de Senlis, daughter of Hubert, Count of Senlis..

Richard (son of Wm. and Adela) 3rd Duke of Normandy, married Gunore, daughter of Herbastus, a Danish knight.

Godfrey (son of Richard) Count of Eu and Brion.

Gislebert Crispin (son of Godfrey), Count of Eu.

Richard Fitz Gislebert de Tonebridge was made Earl of Clare, d. 1090, married Lady Robesia de Bolebec, daughter of Walter de Giffard Count of Longueville, in 1066, made Earl of Buckingham.

Gilbert de Clare (son of Richard and Robesia), 2nd Earl of Clare married Adeliza de Clermont, daughter of Hugh, 1st Count of Clermont and his wife, Margaret de Rouci. (Margaret's parents were Hildwin IV, Count of Rouci and Lady Adele, Countess of Rouci. Adele's parents were Eblo I, Count of Rouci and Reimes and Lady Beatrix de Hainault. Beatrix's parents were Rynerius V, Count of Hainault and Princess Hedwiga, daughter of Hugh Capet, King of France.)

Adeliza de Clare (daughter of Gilbert and Adeliza), married Aubrey or Almeric de Vere, 2nd Baron de Vere, Great High Chamberlain of England. (Appointed by Henry I.)

Alberic de Vere (son of Aubrey and Adeliza), 3rd Baron de Vere, created Earl of Oxford in 1135, d. 1194, married 2nd Lucia d'Abrancis, daughter of William, 3rd Baron d'Abrancis.

Robert de Vere (son of Alberic and Lucia), 5th Baron de Vere, 3rd Earl of Oxford, a Surety for Magna Carta, married Isabel de Bolebec, daughter of Hugh, 2nd Baron de Bolebec.

Hugh de Vere (son of Robert and Isabel) 4th Earl of Oxford, d. 1263, married Hawise de Quincey, daughter of Seyer de Quincey, Earl of Winchester and his wife, Margaret de Bellemont. (Seyer de Quincey was also a Surety for the Magna Carta.)

Robert de Vere (son of Hugh and Margaret), 5th Earl of Oxford, d. 1296, married Alice de Sanford, daughter of Gilbert, Baron Sanford.

Alphonso de Vere (2nd son of Robert and Alice), married Jane Foliot, daughter of Sir Richard Foliot.

John de Vere (son of Alphonso and Jane) 7th Earl of Oxford, married Maud de Badlesmere, daughter of Bartholomew, 1st Baron of Badlesmere, executed 1322. (Maud was the widow of Robert FitzPayn.)

Aubrey de Vere (2nd son of John and Maud), 10th Earl of Oxford, married Alice de FitzWalter, daughter of John, Lord FitzWalter.

Richard de Vere (son of Aubrey and Alice), 11th Earl of Oxford, married Alice Sergeant, daughter of Sir John Sergeant of Cornwall.

Henry de Vere (son of Richard and Alice), 12th Earl of Oxford.

Lady Ann de Vere (daughter of Henry), married Malise Graham, Earl of Mentieth.

The descent from some of the Scottish Kings is as follows:

Malcolm II, ruled from 1005 to 1034.

Duncan I (grandson of Malcolm II), was murdered 1057.

Malcolm III, Canmore (son of Duncan), married 1st Ingebiorg; married 2nd Princess Margaret (afterwards St. Margaret), granddaughter of Edmund Ironsides, a Saxon King of England.

David I (4th son of Malcolm and Margaret), d. 1153, married Matilda, daughter of Waltheof, Earl of Northumbria.

Robert de Brus, Lord of Annandale, (grandson of David, son of David's second daughter), married Isabel de Clare.

Robert Bruce (son of Robert and Isabel), married Marjorie or Margaret, Countess of Carrick, daughter of Nigel, Earl of Carrick. Robert became Earl of Carrick.

Robert Bruce (son of Robert and Marjorie), King of Scotland, b. 1274, d. 1329; crowned 1306, married Lady Isabel de Mar, daughter of Donald, Earl de Mar.

Marjorie Bruce (daughter of Robert and Isabel de Mar), married Walter, the Steward.

Robert II (son of Marjorie and Walter), 1st Stewart king, b. 1316, d. 1390, married 1st Elizabeth More (some say Mure), daughter of Sir Adam More; married 2nd Eupheme de Ross, daughter of Hugh, Earl of Ross.

David Stewart (son of Robert and Eupheme), Earl of Strathern, married Eupheme_____.

Eupheme Stewart, countess of Strathern (daughter of David and Eupheme) married Sir Patrick Graham, son of Sir Patrick Graham, Lord Dundoff.

Malise Graham (son of Patrick and Eupheme), Earl of Mentieth, married Lady Ann de Vere, daughter of Henry de Vere, Earl of Oxford.

Sir John Graham of Kilbride (2nd son of Malise and Ann).

Richard Graham of Killbride (son of Sir John), from whom all the Grahams of the "Border" (both sides) are descended. They were sent to Ireland by James I, of England, with the Armstrongs, Elliotts and others, in 1608 or 1609.

Richard Graham, a great grandson, or a great great grandson of the preceding Richard, was born in Ireland about 1735, and died in Westmoreland Co. Pa., in 1806.

Robert Graham (son of Richard) was born about 1763, in Ireland; his will was filed June 15, 1858. He was a member of the Cumberland Co. militia, from 1780. For many years he was a horse and cattle dealer in Greensburg, Pa. He was married and had children, as follows: (Not sure of the order)

JORDAN

James Jordan and his wife, Margaret _____ were living in Mill

Creek Hundred, New Castle Co., Del., when their son, James Jordan, Revolutionary veteran, was born, Aug. 1, 1758, or 1760. Afterwards they moved to Mendham Twp., Morris Co., N.J., and James, the father, died there in Sept. 1774. Letters of Administration were granted to his widow, Margaret. Samuel Niblack and Samuel McElrath of Morristown went on her bond.

James enlisted in the fall of 1777 for three years, with the New Jersey Blues, Continental Army. He had previously served with the state militia. He applied for a pension in 1833, and the following identifying material was supplied then:

Officers were: Col. Maxwell; Lt. Col. Israel Shreve; Capt. Henry Luce; 1st Lt. Aaron Lane; Ens. John Shreve; Orderly Sergeant Asa Jones.

After enlisting, he went to Mt. Holly. The British drove them back; they retreated to Black Horse, ten miles away. They went into a Quaker meetinghouse for the night, but the British surrounded them during the night. James Jordan and some others escaped by the back door, through the graveyard to Cropicks, about four miles away.

He was in the battle of Monmouth, but not in any other major battles. He related the following about the battle of Monmouth: "After we had passed the courthouse, we (on retreat) were met by General Washington, who came up with the main army, riding a white horse." He heard Washington say to General Lee, "What is this you have been about today?"

He saw Arnold when he went aboard a British vessel, and was part of the guard to Major Andre while he was a prisoner. "This", he said, "was in the fall of 1780."

While James was in the army, his mother moved back to London Brittain Twp., Chester Co., Pa., either with or near her parents. The record says she went for him, after his discharge. They lived in Chester Co. until they came to Plum Twp., Allegheny Co., about 1811.

James Jordan was married to Margaret Armstrong, Dec. 23, 1788, by a Presbyterian minister, the Rev. William McKennan, at the parsonage, in New Castle Co., Del., near the Pennsylvania line.

From: Official Register of Officers and Men of New Jersey in the Revolution. "James Jordan, Capt. Luce's Co., 2nd Establishment, also Militia."

From: U.S. Census Report of 1790, London Brittain Twp., Chester Co., Pa. "James Jordan 1 male over 16--2 males under 16--2 females." John and Ephraim were the "two males under 16" and his wife and mother were the "two females". Other children were born to them, Margaret, James and Elizabeth.

James Jordan was granted a pension $30. per year-for services during the Revolutionary War, in 1833. After his death-Mar. 15, 1844, the same amount was paid to his widow, till she died June 23, 1857, in the 97th or 98th year of her age. John Irwin, aged 83, appeared for her in 1844 as a witness, said he knew both her and her husband before their marriage, which was performed Dec. 23, 1788, the same day as his own marriage, by the same minister.

Both James Jordan and his wife are buried in Cross Roads Cemetery, at Monroeville, Pa.

Thomas Jordan was taxable in London Britain Twp. in 1744 and was still living there in 1774. He was very likely James' grandfather.

ARMSTRONG

The Armstrongs are descended from the Danish King Hringo, whose grandson, Siward Boern, was nicknamed "strong-armed, or armstrong". His grandson, also Siward Boern, became the first Lord of Mangerton, which is on the southern banks of the Liddal, near Castleton, on the "Border".

When James VI of Scotland became James I of England, he attempted to put an end to Border raiding. Among those exiled to Ireland was John Armstrong, of Gilnockie, the third son of Alexander, the sixth Lord of Mangerton. All the Armstrongs in Ireland in the 17th century are descended from this John and his son, Christopher, and Christopher's son, William. (Called Christie's Will)

Margaret Armstrong, who married James Jordan, was almost certainly a daughter of John Armstrong, who was in the Revolution as a matross. Her mother was probably Ann Hamilton, who was married to a John Armstrong by the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, Nov. 1, 1742.

William Armstrong was almost certainly Margaret's brother. He was born in London Britain Twp., in 1769, married Jane Little, was a member of the Lower Brandywine Presbyterian Church, died in 1834.

Margaret's brother, John, married Nancy _____, in 1793, "very young". They settled in Franklin Twp., Westmoreland Co., Pa.

SOLES

"One Soles arrived in Philadelphia in 1738, on the 'Friendship' with other Palatine Germans."

Samuel Sole was living in Lower Potomac Hundred, Frederick Co.,

Md., in 1776, at which time he was twenty-five years of age.

Peter Soles, who was born about 1750, was probably Samuel's brother, and they may have been sons of the "one Soles". Peter married Mary Anderson, the daughter of John Anderson, about 1773. They were living in Frederick Co., Md. at the time of the 1790 census. (No Soles family in Penna., in 1790).

The 1790 census entry for Peter Soles was as follows:

Males over 16 (including head of family)	Males Under 16	Females

They moved to Brownsville, Pa. not long after this, and then in 1798, to McKeesport. Peter Soles was a shoemaker and a butcher.

Children of Peter and Mary Anderson Soles:

1. John, b. 1774, married _____, and had three children in 1800.
2. Peter, b. 1776. Not listed after 1790.
3. Henry, b. 1780, married Elizabeth_____(probably Ritchie)
4. Jacob, b. 1782, d. 1850, married Sarah A._____ (Probably Simpson).
5. Elizabeth, b. 1784, married _____ Heckswelder.
6. George, b. 1788, d. Feb. 18, 1877, married 1st Margaret Ritchie, probably the daughter of Samuel Ritchie. George married 2nd _____, after 1850.
7. David, b. 1790, married Mar. 11, 1813, Elizabeth Zimmerman, daughter of Michael and Elizabeth Schaeffer Zimmerman.
8. Mary, b. 1794, married Jacob Ziegler.
9. Andrew, b. 1797, d. 1887, married 1st Sarah Sinclair; married 2nd Catherine Dunn Moffett, daughter of Walter and Ellen Brownlee Dunn.

By 1810, Peter had died and Mary is listed as head of the family. She had then one son and one daughter "between 10 and 16" (Andrew and Mary); one son "between 16 and 26" (David); and one "son over 26" (George). Jacob and Henry had been married and were listed as heads of their respective households. Jacob had one son under 10; and Henry had two sons and a daughter, all under 10.

Sarah married Michael Zimmerman about 1856.

HERSHEY

The Hersheys were German Swiss, but had been living in the Palatine, near Heidelberg, immediately before coming to America, in 1719. They were probably among the early Christians who had been driven out of Rome into the Piedmont. They were primitive Baptists, later Mennonites. Name was formerly Hersche.

Joz (Jacob) Hersche was born about 1535, at or near Appenzell,

Switzerland. Conrad Hersche, son or grandson of Joz, married in 1621, Greth LaMare. Franziest (Francis), son of Conrad and Greth, married in 1662, Engel Darig. CAMPBELL--ARGYLL BRANCH

Mary Campbell Woods, great grandmother of John Wallace (son of Andrew and Margaret Galbreath Wallace), was a member of the Argyll Campbell Branch. The descent was as follows:

Lord Duncan Campbell married Marjorie (or Mariotta) Stewart, daughter of Robert Stewart, Duke of Albany.

Archibald, son of Duncan and Marjorie, married Elizabeth, daughter of John, 3rd Lord Somerville.

Colin, b. 1457, d. May 10, 1493, son of Archibald and Elizabeth, 1st Earl of Argyll, married about 1465, Elizabeth (or Isabel) Stewart, d. Oct., 1510, daughter of John Stewart, Lord Lorne.

Archibald, son of Colin and Elizabeth, 2nd Earl of Argyll, afterwards Lord Campbell and Lorne, married Elizabeth Stewart, daughter of John Stewart, 1st Earl of Lennox, and his wife, Margaret (daughter of Alexander, 1st Lord Montgomery). Archibald died in the battle of Flodden Field, Sept. 9, 1513.

Colin, son of Archibald and Elizabeth, 3rd Earl of Argyll, d. 1529, married in 1506 or 1507, Jean Gordon, daughter of Alexander Gordon, Earl of Huntley, and his wife, Janet Stewart (daughter of John Stewart, Earl of Atholl).

Archibald, son of Colin and Jean, 4th Earl of Argyll, d. Dec. 1558, married 2nd., Apr. 21, 1541, Margaret Graham, daughter of William Graham, 3rd Earl of Mentieth, and his wife, Margaret Mowbray (daughter of John Mowbray).

Colin (son of Archibald and Margaret Graham), 6th Earl of Argyll d. Sept. 10, 1584, married 2nd., 1571 Anne Keith, d. 1583, widow of James Stewart, Earl of Moray; daughter of Sir William Keith, 4th Earl Marischall and his wife, Margaret.

Archibald (son of Colin and Anne Keith), 7th Earl of Argyll, b. 1566; succeeded 1592, died 1638, married 1st, July 24, 1592, Agnes Douglass, b. 1574, d. 1607, daughter of William Douglass, 8th Earl of Morton, and his wife, Agnes Leslie (daughter of George Leslie, 4th Earl of Rothes).

Archibald (son of Archibald and Agnes Douglass, b. 1598, 8th Earl of Argyll, became the 1st Marquis of Argyll. He was a Covenanter, but had protested the execution of Charles I. When he came to London to congratulate Charles II on the Restoration, he was seized, imprisoned in the Tower and executed May 27, 1661. He had married in 1626, Margaret Douglass, b. 1610, d. 1677 or 1678, daughter of Sir William Douglass, 2nd Earl of Morton and his wife, Anne Keith (daughter of George Keith).

Archibald (son of Archibald and Margaret Douglass), 9th Earl of Argyll, b. Feb. 26, 1628 or 1629, married Mary Stewart, d. 1668, daughter of James Stewart, 4th Earl of Moray and his wife, Margaret Home (daughter of Alexander Home). He took the opposite side from his father and fought for Charles II at the battle of Dunbar. But later he refused to sign the Test of Passive Obedience, without reservations, so was charged with treason, convicted by a picked jury and sentenced to death. He escaped to Holland and remained there till Charles II dies in 1685. His eldest son took refuge in Holland until he came back with the Prince of Orange. Archibald and Mary Stewart had three other sons, one of whom was in all probability the father of Mary Campbell.

BAIRD

There were Bairds (also spelled Bard, Barde, Beard, and Bayard) in Europe as early as the 10th century. They had migrated from Lorraine to d'Aosta, in Piedmont, then to Normandy. One Seigneur de Bard came to England with William, the Conqueror, in 1066. The family settled in Scotland.

In 1178, Henry de Bard was a witness to a charter of lands made by William the Lion. In 1194, Hugo de Bard was one of the subscribing witnesses to a safe conduct, granted by Richard I of England to William the Lion, of Scotland. One Baird, perhaps this same Hugo, saved William from a wild boar, and for it was granted a coat of arms, "Boar passant", Motto, "Dominus Fecit".

During the Scotch War for Independence, the Bairds were able supporters of the cause, with Robert Bruce and Sir William Wallace. Jordan Baird was an inseparable companion to Sir William Wallace from 1297 to 1305.

General Sir David Baird held command under Sir John Moore and reported the battle of Corunna after Sir John's death. Sir David was the son of Sir William, grandson of Sir Robert, great grandson of James, and great great grandson of George Baird, who was living in 1588.

One John Baird came to America with Braddock.

In 1728, Scotch-Irish settlers founded Craigs, in upper Bucks Co., Pa. Among the original settlers were Bairds, Wallaces, Armstrongs and Lockharts.

Bairds also settled in the Carolinas. One Archibald, who had been very successful there encouraged his brother, Samuel (?), born in Scotland but living in Ireland, to come to Carolina. When Samuel and his family came, they found Archibald had invested their money in land and slaves. Samuel refused to own or sell slaves, so he freed the slaves, sold the land at a substantial loss, then died leaving his wife, Roseanna Lockhart Baird, poorly provided for. She decided to take her children to Philadelphia where she had relatives. (Probably the Lockharts, who lived near Chad's Ford). On the way, by boat, yellow fever broke out and they were taken to quarantine in a stockade. Roseanna paid a boy to help her get her children out and onto a coach, bound for Pittsburgh. So they settled in Pittsburgh in 1804 or 1805.

Moses Baird had at least three sons as follows:

1. Archibald, settled in South Carolina.
2. Samuel (?), d. 1804, married Roseanna Lockhart, d. Dec. 22, 1841. They had four children as follows:
 - a. Samuel, d. 1878, married _____ Lowrie. They had three children: Samuel, Louisa and Dr. Howard. None of them married.
 - b. Eliza Jane, b. 1800, d. 1888, married John Wallace. Four children. See Wallace.
 - c. John D., married Rebecca Patterson. No children.
 - d. Mary, married Samuel C. Huey. They had at least two children, Samuel Baird Huey and Hattie Huey.

3. Henry came from Belfast in 1824. His daughter, Mary, married Oct. 1856, William Lockhart Kennedy, son of George and Elizabeth Lockhart Kennedy. Elizabeth Lockhart Kennedy was the daughter of William and _____ Rodgers Lockhart. George Kennedy was a son of William Kennedy, of Kennedy's Ford, near Valley Forge, and his wife, Jane Kincaid, who was a little girl at the time of the battle of Chad's Ford.

Eliza Baird Wallace spent her last days with this Kennedy family, in Mt. Lebanon Twp., Allegheny Co., Pa. Nearly fifty years after her death, they told your compiler that she had been related on both sides of their house - that Henry Baird, their grandfather was a brother of Eliza's father, and that she was a cousin of their mother. They thought she was a first cousin, but weren't sure.

Samuel C. Huey, grandson of one of Washington's soldiers, who died on the battlefield of Trenton, had left Pittsburgh for Philadelphia between 1839 and 1847, and had joined the firm of Deal, Milligan and Huey. He was a trustee of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co. for sixteen years before he became president of that company in 1870, a position he held until his death in 1886. His son, an attorney also served Penn Mutual, as counsel.

Bairds in early Pittsburgh directories:

- 1815 - Roseanna Baird, widow, grocer, northside 5th between Market and Wood.
- 1819 - Roseanna Baird, widow, northside of 3rd, between Wood and Smithfield.
- 1826 - Samuel Baird, merchant, westside Market, between 4th and Diamond.
- 1839 - Baird and Huey, merchants, corner Wood and 5th.
 - " - Baird and Leavitt, wholesale dry-goods merchants, Wood near 5th.
 - " - Samuel Baird, merchant, dwelling, near U.S. Arsenal.
 - " - John D. Baird, merchant, dwelling, Allegheny.
- 1850 - Samuel Baird, merchant, 173 Smithfield St.
